Report Latest Raid On Manchuria Made Without Plane Loss

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The 20th Air Force announced in Washington today that a "large force" of B-29 Superfortresses yesterday blasted the important Japanese cities of Anshan and Dairen in Manchuria and raided military targets at Loya and Kaileng in occupied China without the loss of any planes.

The raid on the great steel center of Anshan was the third attack in "a continuation of the campaign for reduction of Japanese steel production," the communiqué said.

Heavy Cloud Cover
Results of the daylight mission on Anshan were not conclusively known since the bombing was accomplished chiefly through a heavy cloud cover but observed results of the attack on Dairen, Loya and Kaileng were reported to be good by returning crews.

Giving the lie to the Tokyo radio which said the huge American planes were engaged in fierce combat by the Japanese air defenses, the 20th Air Force communiqué said:

"Enemy anti-aircraft fire was reported weak, and fighter opposition was light."

The Japanese radio had also claimed that 13 of the B-29s were shot down.

Republican Candidate's Tactics In Remainder Of Campaign Depend On President

(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ABOARD DEWEY CAMPAIGN TRAIN ENROUTE TO ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 27.—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, greeted by an estimated 1,000,000 persons during his 22-day campaign drive from the Atlantic to the Pacific, was homeward bound today, prepared to continue trading blow for blow with President Roosevelt.

Return To Political Wars
One day after the president takes to the air for the second time, Gov. Dewey, speaking October 6 in West Virginia, will return to the political wars.

Persons close to the GOP nominee said "Mr. Roosevelt again flings charges of 'fraud' and 'falseness' at his opponent, the latter will hammer until November 7 along the same vein as in his Oklahoma City speech, in which he accused the president of 'Demagoguery' and of failure to prepare the nation's defenses for war."

Regardless of what the president says from now on, however, Gov. Dewey will return to the political wars.

Airborne Army Withdrawn From Arnhem Sector

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sept. 27.—Withdrawal of the beleaguered and hard-pressed Allied airborne army from the north bank of the River Lak at Arnhem, Holland, was officially announced today.

In the face of unsubstantiated German claims that the entire division has been annihilated or captured and its equipment destroyed, headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced that the unit had been pulled back to the south bank of the lower Rhine.

Cross During Night
The parachute and glider troops crossed the river during the night, Gen. Eisenhower's announcement said.

The operation was carried out for the main part during last night and has now been completed.

Some of the wounded had to be left on the north bank of the river, where they are being taken care of by the Germans.

On Outskirts Of Adriatic Town North Of Captured Bordonchio

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Sept. 27.—Dominion troops reached the outskirts of the Adriatic town of Bellaria, north of captured Bordonchio, today after the Eighth Army cleared all German resistance south of the historic Italian river of Rubicon.

On the left flank, British troops of the Eighth Army extended their bridgehead over the Rubicon in stiff fighting and approached the town of Savignano.

Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring continued to counter-attack fiercely on the central battle sector but American and British troops of the Fifth Army repelled all the assaults and scored slight advances.

The German army was revealed at headquarters to be using a new "secret weapon" in defense of the Gothic line. It was described as an 88 millimeter cannon converted into an anti-tank gun. Three of the new guns were captured.

Three fresh German infantry divisions were hurled into the fight in the center of the Gothic line as Kesselring strove through increased heavy artillery action to slow the American Fifth Army's drive for the Po Valley above Firenze.

HOLLAND CORRIDOR IS BEING WIDENED

By CHARLES A. SMITH
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, Sept. 27.—The vital Eindhoven-Nijmegen road through the Allied-held corridor in Holland has been reopened after another German attack severed the communications link northward to the embattled Arnhem area, headquarters announced today.

British troops of the Second Army and Belgian forces smashing eastward to widen the salient in Holland seized two stretches along the Maas (Meuse) River, one extending a length of 10 miles and another for a distance of five miles.

A front dispatch to Reuters reported "very fierce" fighting in a wooded area west of St. Oedenrode, nine miles north of Eindhoven on the road to Nijmegen.

News Is Sparse

Although news on the action in Holland continued sparse due to an enforced blackout aimed at preventing the Germans from gaining valuable information, headquarters revealed that the whole east flank of the corridor northward to Nijmegen had been pushed forward and strengthened in the operations in the operations which gained the Allies control of two stretches of the Maas.

Allied Bombers Continue Raids Upon Rhineland

By JOSEPH THOMAS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Sept. 27.—Fleets of Allied bombers and fighters swept eastward from Britain today to batter the Germans in support of Allied armies battling in Europe after a strong force of RAF Lancasters battered the Rhineland industrial city of Karlsruhe and Frankfurt on the Main by night.

The air ministry announced that the Lancasters effectively bombed Karlsruhe, important railway and industrial center, causing large fires which sent smoke streaming upward to a great height.

Only two RAF planes were listed as missing in the twin assault.

The daylight raiders went out over the English Channel in swarms.

Resume Offensive

Strong forces of Allied planes resumed the aerial offensive at 7:30 a. m. today sweeping southeastward from England in a continuous procession over the Thames River estuary.

Later additional armadas went out across the channel in force.

In the early morning German flying bombs again crashed down on southern counties of England, including the London area, causing new damage and casualties.

Headquarters of the United States Air Forces in Britain disclosed yesterday that 19 bombers and three fighters were missing after yesterday's daylight bombardment of Osnabruck, Hamm and Bremen by more than 1,000 fighter-escorted heavy bomber forces. The Nazis challenged the American raiders.

NEW RAIDS ON TRUK ISLAND

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(INS)—New raids by 20 American Liberator bombers on the Caroline Island of Truk and by 30 large planes on Iow Island, in the Volcano group were reported today by the Japanese home radio.

The raids, carried out Monday, according to a broadcast recorded by the FCC, were followed with an assault by two Liberators on Marcus Island during daylight yesterday.

The Japs claimed that over 100 eight raiders were shot down.

Sees Over-Optimism Prevalent In Nation On War In Pacific

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The Office of War Information has performed a great service to the country by their blunt statement of facts relative to our war against the Japanese.

The warning is based on facts and figures, estimates and opinions of authorities in the Navy, War and State departments and Foreign Economic Administration.

With the successful prosecution of the war in the west, far too many people have concluded that on the defeat of Hitler and his Axis ideology, the subjugation of Japan by the combined armed forces of Britain and the United States will be early and quickly accomplished.

Given To Over-Optimism
The American people are given to over-optimism. They have been over-optimistic about our Japanese enemy from long before the commencement of the present war. The Japanese are and have been for many years the greatest menace to the United States.

Blows Against Shipping
Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported the blows against Japanese shipping, the second mentioned in three days of naval aerial patrol action deep in the Sulu archipelago.

The enemy land, shore and airdrome installations from the Moluccas and Celebes to the Solomon Islands shuddered under continued American aerial blows with fighter-bombers destroying three small freighters in sweeps over Halmahera while patrol planes strafed Jap-held villages on Kaeo bay.

German Supply Lines Hammered

By JOSEPH THOMAS
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Sept. 27.—A massive armada of American heavy bombers maintained the Allied aerial offensive against German supply lines by daylight today when more than 1,100 Fortresses and Liberators hurled tons of explosives on rail yards and similar objectives along the Rhine and elsewhere in western Germany.

Vital war factories in the smoke-covered area also were blasted, an official statement from American air headquarters announced.

Escorted by strong forces of Mustang, Thunderbolt and Lightning fighters, which probably boosted the total striking force to 2,200 planes, the big bombers hammered at Kassel, Ludwigshafen, Cologne and Mainz.

Polygamy Trial At Salt Lake City

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 27.—(INS)—A jury of eight men prepared today to hear testimony in the trial of 32 persons charged in Third District State Court with conspiracy to practice and advocate polygamy.

District Judge M. J. Bronson and state and defense attorneys examined nearly 200 men and women before a jury satisfactory to all parties was sworn in yesterday.

After Judge Bronson denied a defense motion to quash the charges, the trial got underway with an opening statement by District Attorney Brigham E. Roberts who told the jurors that the state would prove that male members of the so-called "fundamentalists" cult had been encouraged by their leaders to "take more than one wife and raise large families."

Roberts further charged that the leaders told their followers that "Lord would furnish a way" to take care of the large families, the "way" being, according to the prosecutor, through state and federal relief agencies.

Airborne And Seaborne Forces Landed On Albanian Mainland By Allies

SPEEDS OFFENSIVE TO LIBERATE GREECE

By JAMES I. KILGALLIN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, Sept. 27.—The Allies landed airborne and seaborne forces on the Albanian mainland today in the first large-scale overseas operation to speed the liberation of the Nazi-dominated Balkans.

An appreciable army of "land forces of the Adriatic" was put ashore in an amphibious invasion supported by British warships while Allied airmen were dropped from the skies.

The German agency DNB reported landings on a broad front in Albania and along the whole Dalmatian coast to the north.

The sweep into Albania by the Adriatic army, established four months ago, followed liberation of the central Dalmatian islands off the coast of adjacent Yugoslavia to the north.

On Wide Front
Headquarters disclosed in a communiqué announcing the new operations that the Adriatic units now are operating on a wide front in Adriatic country, including Albania and the islands off Yugoslavia.

The force was formed to cooperate with the Royal Navy, Royal Air Force and Allied Partisan units to give a maximum of trouble to the Nazis in occupied Adriatic sectors.

One of the initial raids by the newly-formed Adriatic army destroyed the Himar garrison in a commando-type raid against Albania. More recently combined operations liberated the central Dalmatian islands.

Amphibious forces swarmed ashore to establish beachheads on the Adriatic shore of the small nation which had been under Axis (Continued on Page Two)

WMC Chairman McNutt Warns Germany Not Defeated Yet, Need 200,000 Workers

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—(INS)—War manpower chairman Paul V. McNutt warned today that Germany is not yet defeated and said 200,000 workers must be recruited to turn out such "must" items as heavy gun ammunition, heavy trucks and tanks.

Speaking at the conference of the American Management Association of Industrial Relations, McNutt said sixty-eight thousand new employees are needed for explosive and loading plants, fifty thousand for ship production and repairs, eighteen thousand for shell-forging and machine shops, and thousands for airborne radar production and other phases of the war program.

"These facts are not as exciting as the headlines reporting the battle for Germany," he said. "But the duration of the battle will be shortened if these manpower shortages are met."

In the initial invasion, he stated that his ship had fired on German positions continuously from early Tuesday morning, June 6, until they ran out of ammunition on Friday morning. They returned to England and secured more ammunition, continuing in the attack until the point was secured for the army forces.

Later his ship, with a group of other battleships and cruisers, took part in a three and a half hour shelling of Cherbourg.

After recovering from these operations, the fleet of which his ship was a part, went to North Africa and thence to Corsica, where they assisted in the attack on southern France, which culminated in the shelling and capture of Toulon.

GOVERNOR DEWEY COMPLETING FIRST CAMPAIGN TOUR

Dewey is not expected to return to the campaign methods he employed in his first six speeches talks which were devoted mainly to a calm presentation of his economic philosophy.

See Victory Chances

The reaction to the Oklahoma City speech was such that the Republican nominee believes his best chances of victory lie in continuation of the rapier-like thrusts which he made at the Roosevelt administration Monday night.

Telegrams of congratulation, pouring in from all parts of the nation, may have accounted for the further scathing remarks made by Gov. Dewey in extemporaneous speeches yesterday afternoon at Tulsa, Okla., and last night at Claremore, Okla.

At Tulsa, he charged that Earl Browder, Communist party leader, was pardoned by President Roosevelt, "So he could wage this campaign."

At Claremore, home of the late Will Rogers, he expressed regret that the great humorist was not alive so he could expose the "fraud and deception of the New Deal."

Change Improves

A check of the numerous correspondents who crossed the continent with Gov. Dewey revealed that the majority believed the latter enhanced his chances of victory by his switch of campaign tactics to an all-out offensive, and that his strength with the voters has increased since he left New York City September 7.

During the last three weeks, he has delivered speeches in Philadelphia, Louisville, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Oklahoma City, in addition to numerous rear platform talks.

A significant development of the Dewey campaign in California and Oklahoma was a direct bid for Democratic support through Democratic clubs for Dewey organizations. He was told in California that between 35 and 40 percent of the Democrats in that state, where the registration is 2 to 1 Democratic, will support the Dewey ticket.

Real Fight Ahead

Despite the optimism with which Gov. Dewey returns to Albany, his advisors are convinced the real fight lies ahead and that the outcome will depend upon the key industrial states of the east, notably Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts, all of which will be visited by Dewey during the next few weeks.

Before leaving Oklahoma, he promised that his election will result in the driving of Communist followers from government service and elimination of the "wasters" from Washington.

The Republican nominee included among those who will go Harold C. Madson, Perkins, the "telegenic" collector of looters' loot contributed by the Kelly, Bendisger and Hague machines, and Sidney Hillman.

Gov. Dewey said that the people, between 1933 and 1940, received "handouts, deficits and political propaganda but never got jobs."

The amazing voter reaction to Gov. Dewey's attacks upon the Roosevelt administration was demonstrated last night as the Republican campaign traffic rolled through Oklahoma and Missouri.

The nominee was forced to deliver four rear platform talks in as many hours when crowds totaling nearly 20,000 turned out at Claremore and Vinita, Okla., and Monett and Springfield, Mo.

domination since Mussolini's Fascist legions seized the country on April 7, 1939, and the Germans subsequently took over with the demise of Il Duce's regime.

Appreciable Forces Landed

The assault marked the second overseas operations by forces from the Mediterranean within little more than a month. Troops based in Italy, Sardinia and on the island of Corsica swept northward on Aug. 15 to invade the French Riviera and join the Allied assault against Germany.

Headquarters of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson announced that units of the British navy landed "appreciable forces" on the Albanian mainland.

Since Sept. 16 the British navy, employing destroyers and light coastal craft as a cover, launched an offensive against the Nazi-occupied Dalmatian islands off the coast of Yugoslavia. The naval vessels carried Allied troops and partisan forces into the Dalmatian area to bottle up the Germans who began withdrawing to the right.

This action which resulted in the clearing of the main Dalmatian group was followed by the main landings on the Albanian shores.

The drive into Albania, coordinated with blows by the Red army eastward in the Balkans, stepped up the Allied offensive to liberate Greece and all the Nazi-dominated portions of southeastern Europe along the Mediterranean eastward to Turkey.

The nearest point of Albania to Italy lies about 45 miles eastward across the strait of Otranto from the Italian harbor of the same name.

Langoon airdrome in the Celebes rocked under renewed night attacks as escorted medium units hammered the field and surrounding installations. Air patrols damaged a 1,000-ton freighter in the Celebes sea and started a large fuel fire at Kendari. Timor, as well as islands in the Banda sea, came under continued aerial assaults, and fighter-bombers smashed at Jap forces on Dutch New Guinea.

Ground troops in the Hollandia area of Dutch New Guinea reported killing 686 additional Japs to make total enemy losses in that area 5,147, including prisoners.

In British New Guinea and thru-out the Solomons medium bombers, fighters and dive bombers blasted enemy positions with light naval units supplementing aerial strikes against Jap forces on Bougainville.

Japanese merchant shipping per year and that their greatest possible rate of construction is a million tons. Nevertheless, the war lords of Nippon are convinced they can so prolong the war that in the end they will get a negotiated peace.

By by-passing we have neutralized about 50 Japanese bases, but those bases are all in Nippon's outpost line of defense.

The foreign economic administration has concluded that Japan can increase her production of almost every category of war equipment and military supplies.

Can Increase Army

It is believed that Japan's army has not as yet been mustered to its full strength. Estimates say she has 4,000,000 men under arms, with 2,000,000 more available and fit for military service who have not been called up, and there are still another million and a half boys between the ages of 17 and 20 who have not yet been drafted. It is well to remember we are taking 18-year-old boys. The destruction of Japanese land forces has not even approached her power of replacement.

The Nipponese are still in possession of a powerful fleet with 10 to 13 battleships, 10 to 12 large aircraft carriers, a number of smaller carriers, and reduced numbers of smaller screening war vessels.

The Japanese are now operating on interior lines, whereas our lines go longer with every victory. It is calculated that Japan's food production on the home islands, north China, Korea and Manchuria is sufficient to maintain the population on a minimum basis.

Always remember that every indication in our war to date with this, our most deadly enemy has been that the men of the Japanese armed forces must be killed to the last man on the last island.

Enemy anti-aircraft fire was reported weak, and fighter opposition was light. None of our planes was lost on the mission.

A delay of more than 24 hours in giving out details of the raid, it was explained, was due to the difficulty of communications with the China bases from which the B-29s struck Manchuria and Chinese cities occupied by the Japanese.

Most snakes that go underground do not dig their own holes, but make use of natural crevices and holes and burrows made by various animals and other creatures.

Creating a Demand for Better Funeral Service

The use of advertising has increased the demand for many products but it is not our expectation that it can ever create a demand for funeral service.

It is our hope that these messages may lead to a better understanding of what the public has a right to expect when funeral service is required. Also, toward that end, we invite consultation and advance arrangements.

Two Big End Runs

The Allies are not only giving the Germans along the Rhine a dose of their own medicine, they are giving the German general staff a lesson in Nazi strategy—and with interest compounded.

The Germans smashed into France largely by flanking the Maginot Line and conquering that system of fortifications from the rear. Today the Allies are doing the identical thing, but with more skill and more power.

Two giant end runs are in progress, one at each end of the Siegfried Line. General Patton's tank army is battering away at the southern end of the line and in the north the British have teamed up with the American air-borne troops and have thrust to Arnhem.

The strategy is clear. Once across the Rhine, the forces in the north can smash two ways. One drive can be pushed across the flat country of northern Germany toward Berlin. The other push can go down into the Ruhr, behind the Siegfried Line, trapping all the German troops manning these fortifications. Once the northern army and the southern army from Patton's wing join up, not only will the Siegfried Line be conquered, but Germany will face ruin.

In cold type, of course, this seems like so much paper work. But it is men and machines which make war move. In all the wars the decisive battles are the hardest. The Germans see their destruction in the making and they are fighting fanatically. But hour by hour Allied troops are advancing toward the greatest victory of all.

Jap Air Power

Japan's air power must be taken seriously even though at present little opposition is sent against invading American bombers when they blast outlying defense bases in the South Pacific or main bases in the Philippines. The question frequently is asked what has become of Japan's airforce. The answer seems to be that Tokyo is holding it back while awaiting an opportunity to strike a telling blow.

That opportunity may never present itself. Japanese air defense of Manila has been hesitant and has proved extremely costly to the Jap air force. But some day the Jap air force must show its hand. The nearer American forces drive to the home land the nearer approaches the time for the showdown battle.

The air war with Japan will be a continued battle of attrition and eventually will end with Tokyo's wings crippled and fluttering on the ground. Final triumph over the "land of the rising sun" will not be far off then.

Public To Decide

Adhering to their decades-old policy of manufacturing automobiles to meet the public demand, auto manufacturers, soon to go back into production after a lapse of three years, say there will be no radical changes in prewar models unless until buyers demand them. Manufacturers of cars in several price ranges point out that the last cars to come off the assembly lines were the last word in what the public wanted, as evidenced by the thousands so readily sold.

It is believed a great majority of those who buy cars when they again are available will want first of all safe and economical transportation. So necessary has the motor car become in modern life that there is no need to make them more attractive by the addition of trimmings and gadgets. This trend toward simplicity has been noticeable in England for years until now the English car is little more than a glorified motorcycle. Automobiles may never reach that low estate in America, but manufacturers anticipate at least a slight trend in that direction.

Admittedly, postwar cars will cost more. That may stimulate a demand for smaller, less costly machines. But until public reaction has been surveyed and analyzed the new cars, so eagerly awaited, will be little different from the last manufactured before output was banned.

Emulating America

Many nations have become ambitious to emulate America industrially. They are eager to acquire all the methods and techniques which have made American mass production of quality goods the wonder of the world. They marvel at this nation's production of 215,000 planes so far in the war, at its output of 55,000,000 tons of shipping and its feat in manufacturing similarly vast quantities of all other types of war equipment.

Before the war, there was an occasional foreign mission in America studying industrial production methods here. There will be a constant parade of such missions in the future. In drawing contracts for postwar goods to be obtained in America, Russia is including whenever it can clauses permitting its technicians to observe the processes of manufacture of the goods. American technicians will accompany much of the machinery to Russia to install it. British, Dutch, Chinese and others are showing similar tendencies. South America has grandiose proposals for American assistance in getting started industrially.

At one period in the development of American industry, it would have been considered the height of gall for representatives of other nations to ask to observe production output methods. But the war has broken down all industrial secrecy among the Allies and it may remain broken down for a time.

Jap Navy Can't Hide Forever

One striking effect of Admiral Halsey's recent hammer-blows in the Philippines has been the forced flight of the Japanese fleet from anchorages off these islands.

Admiral Nimitz reports that the Japs have been compelled to "seek new refuges in the same general area." Formosa may be this haven. Refuges for the jittery Japanese navy are becoming scarcer every day.

Their evacuation of Philippine bases is a tribute to American superiority in those waters, suggests the Philadelphia Inquirer. Admiral Halsey's fleet has been unchallenged as it has loosed its squadrons of carrier craft for their work of destruction. The Jap admirals plainly want no part of it at this time.

The last appearance of their fleet was at the battle of the Philippine sea, from which the Japs beat a hasty retreat after their carrier planes had been knocked off like so many clay pigeons. Presumably their warships took refuge then at their Philippine anchorages, probably in Manila Bay. Their further withdrawal should expedite American invasion operations.

Our great Pacific fleets are doubtless disappointed at the Japs' refusal to come out and fight. There is this about it, however: The Japanese Navy is rapidly getting into a corner from which it will be able to retreat no farther. After all, it can't run away and hide in China.

That intuitive ouija board by which the Germans formerly conducted their campaigns seems to have collapsed.

Washington Calling

By MARQUIS CHILDS

Surplus Property Problem Assigned

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Unless plans are abruptly switched, announcement will shortly be made of the appointment of William L. Batt, now vice chairman of the War Production Board, to be in charge of disposal of all surplus American property abroad.

The appointment is certain to set up a hue and cry among those who attacked Batt for his connection with the American branch of the SKF plant at Philadelphia had no relation to the direction of SKF plants in Sweden and Germany, and no one has yet come forward to prove the contrary.

Fed by "leaks" from various government departments, the campaign against Batt seemed to me, as I said at the time, unfair. He has insisted that the operation of the SKF plant at Philadelphia had no relation to the direction of SKF plants in Sweden and Germany, and no one has yet come forward to prove the contrary.

The scope of the new job he has been told off to do is big. Vast stores of American goods of every description will be left in Europe when the fighting ends. Tremendous pressures will be exerted from this side to prevent any of those stores from being brought back here to add to the mountainous surpluses accumulating in America.

The way in which those American goods are disposed of can have a profound effect on Europe's economy. It can contribute to breaking down the pre-war cartel barriers, or the job can be done within the cartel framework so that the old influences and connections are as little disturbed as possible.

It is here, of course, that Batt's connections are important. At least two government departments, treasury and justice, have dug deeply into SKF. They found that the ball bearing cartel agreement was framed in such a way that insofar as Europe was concerned, the manufacture of precision bearings, vital to modern war, was largely concentrated in German plants, with a small share in Sweden. France and Italy got the plants that made cruder and less essential bearings.

Batt, as manager of the American plant, presumably had little or nothing to do with the decisions that brought about that situation. But this whole question is one that can be legitimately raised in relation to his new appointment.

Hard Worker
A hard worker in WPA, Batt has won the confidence of men of influence like Harry Hopkins. Unlike other New Dealers, Hopkins believes in putting business men to work in government. He it was who sponsored Edward A. Steettinus, Jr., as head of head-lease, from which position Steettinus moved on to be undersecretary of state.

If Hopkins had his way, Batt would sever his business connections completely—he is now on leave of absence from SKF—and become a permanent servant of the government. The argument is that he has the know-how. He has a thorough understanding of European business and business men. That would seem to be an essential for the job to be done.

What is more important than any individual is whether or not a clear policy has been formulated at the top. If a firm line has been laid down to use surplus material in Europe to help break the hold of German cartels, for example—then Batt, as a technician with the requisite knowledge, would be instructed to carry out a specific job.

In the same way, it seems to me that much of the outcry over the appointment of Robert Murphy to be chief diplomatic advisor on occupied Germany was beside the point. He's a technician. Ordered to carry out a policy, he'd do it. I'm afraid that we're not clear on basic policy. That is our real weakness as we assume responsibility in Europe. Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER, City Health Superintendent

TUBERCULOSIS AND OLD AGE

There seems to be a general impression that old people do not have tuberculosis.

If an old person has a cough it is called asthma or chronic bronchitis and let go at that.

Tuberculosis is frequently found in old people. A person may have tuberculosis and live 100 years.

An aged person with tuberculosis may seem to be pretty well but may infect many people with whom she is associated.

The fight against tuberculosis is long and hard. Health workers are trying to find all cases and see that proper care is provided.

Every one who has a long continued cough should see a doctor about it.

An old person who has tuberculosis may give it to younger people who may die from it.

Prevention is our only hope.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:50. Sun rises tomorrow 6:53.

You only have to mumble a few words in a church to get married and a few words in your sleep to get a divorce.

Love is a funny thing. A man bites a girl's neck because she has beautiful legs.

A newspaper is a portable screen behind which a man hides from the woman who is standing up in a bus.

Are the American people unappreciative?

Do we show our gratitude to the people who have really helped us? A recent survey shows that only one person in three thousand can name the doctor who was in attendance at their birth... the doctor, who in most cases, "breathed the breath of life" in their frail little bodies... and quite often the most inconvenient time of day.

Can you name the doctor who brought you into the world?

If you can, have you ever expressed your appreciation in thought, word or deed? If not, why not now? Doctors are human... they like to know their labor is appreciated. You owe a debt of gratitude to your doctor. It is the little acts of courtesy in this world that make our civilization and national unity.

No person ever lives to be as old as his jokes.

The worst thing about getting old is to have to listen to a lot of advice from one's children.

An old-fashioned girl is one who stayed at home when she had nothing to wear.

"I'm sorry I couldn't come and do your washin' yesterday, Miz Jones, but I had such a pain."

"What was it, Melissa? Dyspepsia?"

"No ma'am. De doctah called it acute indiscretion."

"Slow Poke" used to be a term addressed to a driver who cluttered up the traffic. But now he's a patriot, saving gas and tires.

There's a paper-saving when a WAC gets married in uniform. Doesn't take as much news space to describe her wedding costume.

It doesn't matter whether the rain falls on the just or unjust, if it will only descend upon the lawn and shrubbery.

What's this talk about the duration of the war?

Of course, we are not the kind of a person who would deprecate the merits of goodness of mother's pies... but... we reluctantly admit that one reason they seemed much more delicious was the healthy appetite of an eight-year-old stomach.

Asked if he knew a certain fellow, a veteran peace officer replied: "Most certainly I know that guy. He's an ex-convict from the army and a pugilist from the police, going under a consumed name."

Some men seem to have been made out of dust that had gravel in it.

Trouble—The one thing that any one can readily borrow.

Every man must have something to be proud of, if only the fact that he can't remember names.

It is axiomatic that married men make the worst husbands.

So, you boast of your memory? O. K., then. What was the name of the man who died from the assassin's bullet intended for President Roosevelt in 1932? And, how and where was the assassin punished?

In 1939-43, Germany had a manpower shortage, and in 1944, the Yanks and the Russians are doing their share to eliminate a serious unemployment problem in Germany for at least the next ten years.

With the chill autumn breezes, these are the days when one-half of the world wonders how the other half keeps from having goose pimples from showing where the leg make-up is applied.

The WAC will make an uncomplaining wife. Whatever tough time may come, she has seen worse.

Isn't it a little silly to keep referring to a man as John Doe, Jr. after he reaches 60 or thereabouts?

Among the enemies of freedom are those who see no fault in dictatorial acts by the leader of their own side.

Our guess is that even a Republican President would have no trouble finding an emergency four years from now.

The job would be easier if the President had told Doolittle not to bomb the Jap emperor. Little Japs would have no god to die for.

The government now has millions of cases of rotten eggs. So that's why the Germans are so frantically making gas masks.

When necessary, people can devote all their energy to doing what they believe wrong. Why can't they strive as hard to right?

Some people carry their liquor so well you can judge their condition only by the kind of stories they tell.

Say one thing for delinquent girls. They carefully follow the example of the ladies in movies and books and magazine stories.

Prophecy No. 849: Sidney Hillman will establish a Communist totalitarian system or start a reaction that will establish a Fascist system.

"True story. A thrifty lady who sold milk to a few neighbors said: 'Of course I took the cream off. I agreed to sell you milk, but I wouldn't sell my cream to anybody.'"

The Russians have natural advantages. They built their largest steel works close to a mountain that assays 60 per cent iron—300 million tons of it.

Rumor a wild bull moose seen in an eastern state. Or is this just some more third party propaganda?

"Retience is a HANDICAP." "My sister, although very pretty and a year and a half older than I am and now in her senior year at college, becomes actually tongue-tied when in the presence of any new masculine acquaintance. How can I break her of this reticence?"

"Babe." Answer: She must be made to understand that there is no greater social bore than the silent sitter who is either too indifferent or too self-conscious to open her mouth. And she must make an effort to contribute her share conversationally or she will find herself utterly without further social engagements. It seems to me that the majority of self-conscious people have little reason for being so. And that many of the senseless babblers at large would do well to develop a little of this introspection but they never will! I do not know what makes an inferiority complex, but I do know that it is not inferiority. It's merely a condition of mind that can be overcome with determination to "snap out of it."

Some undergraduates with a strong yen to become regarded as intellectuals develop a snobishness toward boys of their own age who are not out to earn a Ph.D. or a Rhodes Scholarship.

If your sister is really pretty, she will soon attract a man with whom she will fall in love and who will shock her out of her present pose—either that or teach her a sad lesson by which she will abide when the next marriageable man comes along.

Question: My friends have sent gifts to my new baby daughter. Should I write a thank you note to all of them, including those to whom I said "thank you" verbally when the gifts were presented?—Mother.

Answer: Write a thank-you note to each donor. Your verbal "thank you" will suffice for all gifts presented personally, however, it is a useful gesture to augment this verbal thanks with a note.

Tomorrow—Girls Demand Too Much Entertaining

The World and the Mud Puddles

THAT "EXPERIENCE."

New Deal fourth term advocates are harping on the one string of "indispensability." They parrot the same old phrases—that because of his "experience" Mr. Roosevelt is the only man in a country of one hundred thirty million people who can qualify as President. Senator Truman's sole argument is that of "experience."

If "experience" is the primary qualification for the Presidency, the only logical position for Mr. Truman and his fellow New Dealers to take is that Mr. Roosevelt should be President for life. If he should be elected for a fourth term, he will in 1948 have had four years more "experience," and on this basis would be more than ever necessary as head of the nation. By 1952 he would have had twenty years in the Presidency.

George Washington had a considerable amount of experience even before he entered upon the Presidency; he helped to make the Constitution upon which the new government was built. Except for Benjamin Franklin, it is probable that no man in the nation had sounder and longer experience. But Washington lacked the egotism to regard himself as "indispensable," he understood the temptations of self-perpetuation in office and the inevitable trend towards dictatorship it involved. Jefferson and Madison, who certainly were not amateurs in the science of government, held firmly to the Washington precedent.

Such eminent Democrats as Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson advocated a single six-year term for the President as a means of combating spoils politics and insuring independence of the executive from partisan pressure. They realized that even in two terms a President so inclined could build up a political machine of enormous strength. In twelve years, or sixteen or twenty years, such a machine could absolutely dominate the nation, and the executive who controlled it could perpetuate himself at will or dictate the choice of his successor.

On the basis of "experience" in government there are members of Congress in both Houses, in both Parties, who have longer records of service than Mr. Roosevelt. On such a basis Secretary Hull far outranks his superior, as does the so-called "assistant President," Mr. Byrnes.

Democratic Chairman Hannagan already had declared for a fifth term for Mr. Roosevelt. If "experience" is to be the primary token of "indispensability," Mr. Hannagan and his New Deal colleagues should frankly advocate the crowning of Mr. Roosevelt as President for life.

Why do we suppose United States manufacturers have not taken this trade advantage of France? Principally, because this country sent millions of men overseas to fight in strange countries. It sent its best fighters and the best strength it had to fight for the release of the manufacturers of France and the rest of the Nazi-infested world.

Quoting one personal experience—I waited six months for a ring ordered at one of the biggest jewelry firms in the United States. Not that the waiting was important. But the reason for the waiting was important.

I give it as a reply to the critics who wonder why we have not improved our trading and our manufactures during the war. We have only one time craftsman left out of a staff of 50. The rest are doing delicate jobs in war production plants or fighting. At the beginning this was a war of ideals—we were going to save mankind—forevermore. Remember?

That French Champagne I've just thought of something else that makes me mad—it's the existence of those three million bottles of the very best champagne stored away in cellars in France. The French generally seem mighty fat and sassy after the German occupation. Naturally, no one would be vulgar enough to suggest that those three million bottles at, say $5 a bottle, be turned in as say $15-20,000,000 on the war debt.

I have no sons to be in the war. I have a husband in the Navy and a daughter in the Army, both still strong and well, thank heaven. But when I see the young men friends of my daughters struggling back—those who have lived to come back—all with miserable fevers, wounded in flesh and spirit—bitterness mingles with pride in our part in this war.

A man I know says his attic back home is jammed with the uniforms worn by the military men in his family during the past war. He says the military men still cherish the uniforms. So spring after spring his unfortunate mother searches trunks bulging with khaki, Navy blue and gold, and finally finds a new and happier family of the vicious little insects.

When I asked my friend what he thought ought to be done with the discarded uniforms of this war, he said, "Send them off somewhere and let that new fangled machinery chew them up into rags." No patriot here!

Who sums the woes of life should tell. Its many pleasures as well. It's not a birthday cake aglow. Worth living through a year to know?

And is it not a pleasant thing. Grown old, to hear young voices sing. And stand beside a little bed At eve while prayers are being said?

Oh, there are loss and pain and strife. And heavy burdens all through life. And tasks we have no wish to do. But there are countless blessings, too.

Reading To Small Child

I read each of the parents in case there were a brother or sister or neighbor child under six, to induce the poor reader to read aloud to this younger child. I entreated them to try to be very calm and patient with the child as they tried to help him.

Confusing and miscellany short, simple, common words is the usual habit of poor readers. Such words don't carry meaning so easily as longer words which arouse more associations. They can best be learned as parts of interesting phrases and sentences. Sometimes, however, the child who confuses such words has never thoroughly mastered all the letters of the alphabet but still confuses some of them. A little practice on those which give trouble may be helpful. But when any two letters as b and p are confused, they should not be practiced together. Have the child work on one at a time picking it out in all sorts of places as on the page of a magazine or newspaper, ignoring the other letter in the meanwhile.

Grandpappy Jenkins is once again using that old excuse—he doesn't want to rake up the leaves because they hide the bare spots in the lawn!

Closed French Embassy Will Be Opened Soon
Mansion Once Home Of Famed John Hammond
Military Uniforms Are Held Useless Relics

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—So the French embassy is going to be swept and polished up once again. Good!

Since November, 1942, when the last Vichy ambassador, Henri-Haye, was sent home by this government, the buff-colored chateau in the grove of trees overlooking the Taft bridge and Rock Creek park has been closed tight and in the care of the neutral Swiss legation.

The state department has said that the French National Committee's United States representative in Washington, Henri Hoppert, may now occupy the embassy. The French committee has been occupying the residence on Massachusetts avenue where the last German ambassador to the United States, Hans Dieckhoff, lived. Big houses in Washington switch personalities and nationalities without a backward glance.

Old Relics Found
The French embassy was formerly the home of John Hays Hammond, a successful soldier of fortune of 50 years ago. Hammond was born in California. Wandered through the Far East, searched and found gold in Mexico and in South America and did a rushing business with diamonds and gold with Cecil Rhodes and the Boers in South Africa.

Many of the relics of Hammond's adventures are now stored in the attic of the embassy. The present furnishings of the embassy are typically French—Inlaid mahogany in the style of the Louis—Gobelin tapestries, petit point and Aubusson carpets.

American manufacturers are being criticized because they have not taken advantage of the occupation of France and learned to make fine wines, fine jewelry and fine whatnots generally.

Why do we suppose United States manufacturers have not taken this trade advantage of France? Principally, because this country sent millions of men overseas to fight in strange countries. It sent its best fighters and the best strength it had to fight for the release of the manufacturers of France and the rest of the Nazi-infested world.

Park And Golf Course Projects Show Deficits

City Operation Of Both Shown To Cost More Than Projects Return

Mayor John F. Haven and council colleagues recently announced that if the city is required to pay taxation for operation of Cascade park and Sylvan Heights golf course both recreational institutions may be abandoned. Mayor Haven, following a conference with council, stated that over a ten year period the city's deficit at the park and golf course amounted to $113,021.31, and if forced to pay taxes for 1936-43, inclusive, the deficit would be increased $19,204.25.

123 acres, $14,000; 1 house, $5,000; 1 stucco house, $1,500; 1 brick office building, $500 and 1 barn, $600, or $21,600 for a tax of $6,243.80.

The assessments on Cascade park are as follows:

Fun house, $4,000; store house, $300; dance pavilion, $16,000; merry-go-round, $1,500; 3 small houses, $800; restaurant, $1,500 and Dodo's, $800, or a total assessment of $24,000.

34, 1942, $846.60.
33, 1943, $834.15.
Total tax, $12,960.45.

State Reports 22 New Polio Cases

Health Department Reports Outbreak Is On Decline; Only Four Counties Not Touched

HARRISBURG, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Twenty-two cases of infantile paralysis were reported during the past 24 hours increasing the total in Pennsylvania since January 1 to 1,102 as the state health department assured Pennsylvanians today the epidemic had passed the peak.

"The infantile paralysis outbreak has definitely passed its peak," said Deputy Secretary J. Moore Campbell.

For the first time, a case was reported in Fulton County leaving only four of the state's 67 counties unaffected. Forest, Juniata, Snyder and Union counties still remained free of the disease, the department said.

"It is generally felt that when the weather gets crisp, Polio cases decline," Campbell said. "Whether it's a mere coincidence, or whether the cooler weather has any effect, I don't know."

He explained that reports from rural areas were received daily while large cities and municipalities were required by law to submit reports at least once a week.

Official reports list 101 cases in Tioga County. Campbell explained that in 1932 the state's southeastern section "was the hardest hit" while three years ago the outbreak centered in York County.

Of the 22 cases listed today, eight were reported from sparsely-populated Elk County while the remainder were scattered throughout 10 other counties.

Since September 1, more than 475 cases were reported to the department and during the past eight weeks the number skyrocketed from 242 to 1,102 cases.

Governor Praises Nation's Business

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Gov. Edward Martin paid tribute today at Philadelphia to American businessmen who have served the nation and called for a continuation of free enterprise.

He commended established firms for their contribution to American life and stated "that is a fine tradition of American business," at the dedication of a founders' tablet at Strawbridge and Clothier.

"I know of no better example of the working of American free enterprise for continuance of which we are fighting today."

"The simple formula for success followed by wise founders is nothing more than faith in their nation, their state and their city, coupled with the spirit of service and principles of thrift and honesty," he said.

FARMERS URGED TO MARK FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Because farm property valued at 100 million dollars is destroyed by fire annually, and farm fires take the lives of 3,500 persons every year, Lawrence county farmers are urged to join in observing Fire Prevention Week, October 8 to 14.

Largely through carelessness, more than 40,000 barns were either destroyed or damaged by fire in the United States last year. Every farmer can mark Fire Prevention Week right at his own place by taking inventory of fire hazards and removing them, safeguarding his barns, buildings, livestock and crops from the ravages of a carelessly ignited blaze, and making certain that firefighting equipment is on hand and in good condition.

METHOD OF SOWING WHEAT

To be grown extensively and satisfactorily, wheat must be sown in a good rotation which includes a good sod of grasses and legumes.

Where harvested for forage, simplest and most logical plan is to follow soybeans with a winter grain in which the seedling is made the next spring. Since soybeans leave the soil loose and free from weeds, a light harrowing or disking will adequately prepare the seedbed.

Where the beans are combined, it still may be possible to sow wheat or rye if the variety of soybeans fairly early and does not require too long a season. Sometimes labor and time can be saved by drilling grain directly behind the combine, preferably with a disk drill, letting the straw fall on the drilled ground.

Soybeans, for either hay or seed, seem to leave the soil exhausted of available plant food. Grain sown after beans always should be well fertilized, say extension agronomists of the Pennsylvania State college. They suggest 300 to 400 pounds per acre of something like 3-12-6 or 4-12-8, even on fertile soils.

Soybean ground is very subjected to winter washing, especially if beans have been grown on it more than one year. Seeding to grain helps to reduce erosion. It is better to sow a winter-hardy variety of wheat, such as Purkof, Thorne or Nittany, rather late than to leave the ground entirely bare. Rye can be sown still later.

same size yarn and same stitch if possible. If not, use plain knitting or the stockinette stitch. When enough has been knitted, bind off the stitches. Catch the stitches to the edge of the opening with a strand of yarn. If there are strands at the sides, use them for catching the sides.

The other way which gives a smooth mend in a stockinette knit is to use a needle and yarn and work rows of chain stitches matching those in the garment as nearly as possible. Use the side strands of yarn to weave these in place. Press mends with a warm iron and slightly damp pressing cloth.

School Board Discusses Sale Of School Site

Discussion of the advisability of the sale of the old Martin Gantz school property, at the corner of Jefferson and Grant streets, was had Monday night when the New Castle School Board held a special meeting. Interest has been shown by possible purchaser, and the board is willing to sell the property if a reasonable offer can be had. No action was taken in the matter further than an informal discussion of the sales possibilities.

The petition of the Industrial Basketball league for use of a school gymnasium this winter was granted, although not exactly as the petition asked. It asked for the Franklin junior high school gym, but this is usually taken by school activities. The board agreed to let the league use the senior high school gymnasium two nights per week.

A letter of approval of the coming survey of the schools here was received from the New Castle chapter of the Pennsylvania State Education association.

Forty-Five Tons Of Paper Collected Here Saturday

Forty-five tons of paper and magazines were collected September 23 when a waste paper collection was held in the city and adjoining townships. Numa F. Vidal, Jr., chairman of the collection, stated today. Of this, 13½ tons were magazines and the balance newspapers, cardboard and brown paper. The cars have been shipped and it is anticipated the Mayor's recreation fund will get between $800 and $1,000 from the sale.

The bundling of magazines was found to be loosely done in many cases. Mr. Vidal suggested today that in the future magazines should be tied tightly with heavy twine, as they break open if they are tied with ordinary string.

Hear Arguments In Local Case

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's supreme court today heard arguments on proceedings in equity brought by the Society of Mutual Help Christopher Columbus of New Castle, against its subsidiary organization, the Christopher Columbus auxiliary.

The auxiliary denied the charges of the parent organization that it would not sign a petition allowing the men to audit its accounts every three months after a shortage of $125 was found on its books in January, 1940. The auxiliary asks that it be allowed to use the name although it does not want the use of the club rooms.

The women's group claimed that the parent organization formed a new auxiliary without telling any of the members of the original Christopher Columbus auxiliary.

The lower court had dismissed the case.

Six Germans Are Placed On Trial

American Military Government In Germany Inaugurates Trials

By RICHARD TREGASKIS
U.S. Staff Correspondent
KORNELIMUNSTER, Germany, Sept. 27.—The American military government in Germany will hold its first trials of German nationals today—and the most serious charge is stealing coal.

Six German civilians will be arraigned before Capt. Kurt Waltschek, of Oakland, Cal., presiding over a summary court in this town which was captured from the Germans just two weeks ago.

The six to face the court are four women accused of trespassing in restricted areas and two men accused of stealing coal from a freight yard.

There are no cases of espionage, or of assault on American troops here, nor in the rest of conquered German territory. The Germans remaining in Kornelimunster are just fed up with the war, and furthermore, according to one military government official, "they're so used to taking orders that they automatically obey anybody."

Turn In Rifles

It is a startling experience in newly conquered towns to run smack into a German civilian carrying a rifle. If it were Jap territory he's probably a sniper, but in Germany he is just turning the rifle in to be burgomaster in accordance with orders from the American military government.

In military government headquarters here there is a room full of rifles, pistols and daggers turned over in strict conformity with the Teutonic tradition of thoroughness.

No authenticated cases of civilian sniping have turned up in the Kornelimunster area. There is a current story that one town in the Reich was leveled after civilians fired on passing American troops, but that yarn has not been verified. There was one town where an American column was sniped at, probably by German soldiers. The fire came from a group of houses, and American tanks blasted the houses to splinters.

Civilians Meek Enough

All told, it has not been hard to comply with First Army headquarters orders to be just and proper with the German citizens—at least not with the 800 Germans left in Kornelimunster after the Nazi SS evacuated some 1,600.

These civilians are meek enough, and Tech. 5th Nathan Klot, of Cleveland, O., summed up their attitude by saying, "all they want is business as usual."

The German natives of the town are apparently grateful for the arrival of the Americans. On the first day when an American armored column entered the town the streets were covered with a shush of broken glass, and many houses were wrecked.

One man said that he thought the Americans would be well received in Germany.

When asked why he thought so, he answered, "because I think it will be the beginning of freedom for us."

No Democrats To Run For Office

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Defection has so paralyzed the Democratic organization in southern Illinois that in 40 counties there are no Democratic candidates for county offices, State Auditor Arthur C. Lueder said today.

In a campaign address at suburban Highland Park, Lueder declared: "If downstate Illinois is the usual time barometer of election, which it has been for years, the New Deal is on its way out. It will receive one of the most stinging defeats in the political history of the nation."

Released Prisoner Takes Commons Seat

LONDON, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Capt. Archibald Ramsay, member of parliament who was released from prison yesterday, took his seat when the House of Commons met today. Ramsay had been in prison since 1940, being detained under British security regulations.

Dorsey Is Cleared Of One Charge

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Bandleader Tommy Dorsey today stood cleared of one of the two felonious indictments which grew out of his "bottle of the balcony" with Actor Jon Hall last August 5.

Agreeing with a defense contention that there was insufficient evidence to support the charge, Superior Judge Clement D. Nye dismissed the indictment covering the beating given to Actor Eddie Norris during the melee.

Dorsey's wife, Actress Pat Dane, and their friend, Allen Smiley, also were cleared of the charge.

MORE FARM HELP NEEDED IN COUNTY

Bean And Apple Crop Pickers Are Badly Needed, Farm Labor Office States

Although there has been a generous response from county residents to the appeal for help in harvesting the bumper apple and vegetable crops of the county, bean pickers and apple pickers are still needed, it was stated at the Emergency Farm Labor office today.

Last week 70 students from the Mahoning school picked beans on several days, while last Thursday 24 students from the Senior high school picked apples at the High Hill fruit farm. There was also a fair response from adults.

Groups are desired, where someone has a car in which he can transport a number to the points where help is needed. The ration board has agreed to make gasoline available for those who will help in this endeavor.

Anyone who can give assistance either with bean picking or apple picking, is asked to contact the Emergency Farm Labor office in the Pennsylvania Power Company building, or call 7192.

Congressman Charges Organization Is Leading 'Communist Front' In United States

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
U.S. Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R) N. J., declared today that the national citizens' political action committee headed by Sidney Hillman is "the leading communist front organization in the United States."

Thomas' charge was made as a three-man subcommittee of the Dies-un-American activities committee opened public hearings on the political action group following more than a year of investigation.

Puppet Of Larger Group
A member of the subcommittee conducting the hearings, Thomas said "we will show that the NCPAC is not only the spearhead for its predecessor, the CIO-political action committee, but that the CIO-PAC is the puppet of the larger group."

The hearings, the first to be held on the CIO political action committee, although two reports of findings have already been published, will be conducted by Thomas and Reps. Starnes (D) Ala., and Costello (D) Calif. All three were opposed to re-nomination by the CIO-PAC Thomas being the only one to escape defeat.

"We will show," continued Thomas, "that 80 per cent of the 141 sponsors of this group have had either affiliations or follow the communist line."

Would Call Hillman
Thomas said he favored calling Hillman as a witness, but added that his appearance "will somewhat depend on developments."

"Hillman got away pretty lucky with other congressional committees," declared Thomas, in a reference to the labor leader's appearances before the senate and house campaign expenditures committee. "I intend that he will not get away lucky with us."

During Hillman's appearance before the house campaign funds committee on Aug. 28, he told Rep. Church (R) Ill., when he was accused of employing communist methods.

"Usually the thing is charged when I am not around. I am still waiting for the Dies committee, you know, to get an opportunity to appear before them. They have talked big in the papers, but they know very well that they can not substantiate a single one of their statements."

Thomas said the first witness on the list was Robert E. Stripling, the committee's chief investigator, who would outline "just what has been developed during the investigation," followed by J. B. Matthews, the committee's director of research.

The New Jersey congressman said the hearings would continue each day, including Saturdays, for 10 days to two weeks and asserted it would be "the most thorough investigation we have held."

Murray Demands Quick Decision On Wage Issues

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
U.S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—CIO President Philip Murray told the War Labor Board today that an OPA investigation has revealed that the wage demands of a half-million steel workers will not warrant an increase in the price of steel.

Murray quoted the OPA study as follows: "There is at the present time no ground for an over-all increase in the price of steel, and even in the event that the wage increase requested by the union were granted in full, the case for a price increase would not be persuasive."

"For even if the wage demands were granted in full, its effect upon average hourly earnings would be largely offset by the disappearance of overtime and the reversal of the labor upgrading process. These two factors account for 16 cents in average hourly earnings. As against this the wage demand comes to 17 cents."

Headlining the second day of hearings before the WLB in labor's final drive to smash the "little steel" formula, Murray demanded a quick decision on the merits of the steel workers' case and declared it must not be treated "as a political pawn."

Although the board has announced it would start its deliberations Oct. 9 on the question of revising the wage freeze, Murray disclosed that the WLB had voted down a resolution of labor members to bring out a decision by Oct. 15.

War Bond sales to workers in the automotive industry average 9.5 per cent, of the industry's total payroll.

Details Capture Of 850 Germans In Island Invasion

By Master Tech. Sgt. John W. Black
Marine Corps Combat Correspondent
(Distributed by International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 27.—Details of the capture of 850 Germans, while occupying three strategic islands off Marseilles during the invasion of southern France, were revealed Tuesday by members of the U. S. Marine Detachment of the cruiser, USS Augusta, here for reconnoitering following months of fighting in the European theatre. Outnumbered nearly 10 to one, 90 marines from the USS Augusta and the USS Philadelphia, took over the islands of Ratonneau, Pomegues and D'if within minutes of the completion of surrender negotiations on August 29.

The three-hour trip from ship to shore in a minesweeper, said Capt. Francis R. Schlesinger, of Franklin, N. H., in charge of the contingent, was as tense as any beach assault. The Germans had not yet capitulated and there was no assurance they would.

"They had been firing at our warships all morning," said Schlesinger, "and a launch was shelled the previous day when it tried to put some naval officers ashore under a flag of truce. In front of our minesweeper was a destroyer, hoping to arrange surrender before any landing was made. On the shore, we could see the heavy batteries. The tension was pretty high."

Truce Signal Seen
When the marines' ship was about 1,000 yards offshore, a small boat, flying a truce signal, put out from land. Two German officers boarded the American ship. Half an hour later, they left, and the marines followed them in. Flying from Ratonneau now was a huge white flag.

By sunset, the 90 marines had rounded up 600 prisoners. Able-bodied Germans were enclosed within a barbed wire stockade.

"There were all kinds of troops, from veterans down to 14-year-old boys," said First Lt. William H. McDaniel, of Portsmouth, Va., second in command. "The old timers seemed to be glad their fighting days were over but the youngsters were pretty defiant."

Among the stragglers rounded up by a patrol led by First Sgt. Memory H. Smith, of Jacksonville, N. C., were 11 Frenchwomen, five of them nurses who had been tending the wounded.

On the day after the landings, prisoners were taken aboard infantry landing craft, and conducted to an Italian port.

The only living things were left on the islands," said McDaniel "were six horses and two dogs."

U. S. Ships Taken Off Argentine Run

'Sanction' Is Against Fascistic Tendencies Of Argentine Government, Hull Declares

By LEON PEARSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(UINS)—The State Department announced Tuesday that United States Merchant ships will be taken off the Argentina run and will not call at any ports of that country after October 1.

The action was an extension of the political steps already taken by Secretary of State Hull against what he calls the "Fascist" government of Argentina.

The announcement spoke only of ships of the War Shipping Administration, but since WSA controls all American Merchant vessels, the effect was to deprive Argentina of all North American bottoms for movement of commerce to the United States.

The official statement said: "The services of war shipping administration ships are of course, controlled by war needs. Changes of routes as in this case where ships are being diverted from the Argentina run on October 1 for other areas are responsive to war requirements."

At the same time, the State Department made it clear that other Latin-American countries will not suffer the same privation of shipping facilities. The statement added: "Those countries contributing effectively to the prosecution of the war of course will continue to receive the sympathetic consideration with respect to American ships for their domestic needs."

This move was clearly a severe economic sanction against Argentina, and may result in a sharp curtailment of Argentine exports to the United States. It will mean that whatever Argentina sends to this country must now come in Argentine flag vessels.

Since Argentina is fourth on the list of Latin-American countries in exports to the United States, it was apparent that Argentina ships alone will be inadequate to carry this commerce.

Products now being exported by Argentina to the United States include not only strategic materials such as tungsten, flax seed, tanning extract, corn and wheat but also less essential items such as Argentine gin which is now being widely marketed in the United States.

Specification Forms Grow With Highways

Drivers who have become so used to well-paved Pennsylvania highways that they forget the dirt roads of twenty-five years ago could compare the 464-page specification form at the garage of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways on the Wilmington road with the little 75-page booklet which first came out in 1915.

Now faded to a pale shade of blue, the pamphlet was bound only by paper and was outdated even by 1917, when the automobile had come into its own. The form for that year had grown to 168 pages, and in heavy pulp paper, and its specifications were authoritative models for other states to copy.

In 1917, the Federal Government issued instructions governing standard forms for the forms and arrangement of plans, specifications, and estimates for Federal Aid projects compiled in collaboration with the State Highway Officials' Association, and the Pennsylvania Department again revised specifications, complying with these standards.

Thus the growth of the specification form put out by the Commonwealth indicates the rapid expansion of modern Pennsylvania highways from the period when ladies wore "dusters" when they took automobile rides to Federal aid projects for concrete highways.

Gloom Economists Are Challenged By Eric A. Johnston

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Eric A. Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, challenged the "economists of gloom" Tuesday to compare America's postwar problems with the troubles of other war-torn areas of the world.

"How many would like to exchange our problems for those of England, of Russia, of Germany, of Japan, of China, of France?" Johnston asked.

In a speech before the National Association of Home Builders, Johnston declared that it is inconceivable that the United States, which has performed production miracles during the war, cannot overcome the reconversion obstacles at home.

"Our problems are serious and difficult to solve," he said. "They will require united effort and cooperation, but they are not as difficult to solve as the problems of other countries. If we can remain strong, we will help float the world; if we sink ourselves, the world goes into chaos with us."

Volant-Rich Hill Communion Service

Mrs. Harry Martin of East Brook will speak at preparatory services at Rich Hill on Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

Chicken Production Falls During August

HARRISBURG, Sept. 27.—Not many more than one-half the number of baby chicks were produced during August of this year in Pennsylvania hatcheries compared with the same month in 1943, and most of the current hatchery output is for broiler production, the Federal State Crop Reporting Service, State Department of Agriculture, says in a recent report.

Chick production probably reached the low point for the year during August. Some hatcheries expected to resume operations in September and a few more in October but the general opening for the 1945 season will not occur until January and February. Eggs set by commercial hatcheries in August totaled 2,965,000 compared with 3,188,000 in the same month last year. The August chick production totaled 2,000,000 which was 1,733,000 less than a year previous.

Wins With Horse, Loses With Law

MINEOLA, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Walter Nartowicz, 27, pondered today in the Mineola jail on the fickleness of Lady Luck.

He was just about to cash in yesterday on three winning tickets on Oatmeal in the last race at Belmont when a detective at the race track recognized him as one of five men who broke out of the Nassau county jail six weeks ago.

When the detective approached, Walter ran—but didn't do as well as Oatmeal. An hour later he was in the lockup, gazing dubiously at the winning ducats, still clutched in his hand.

D. S. C. Awarded To Sergeant For Heroism In Italy

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, Italy—Delayed—(INS)—Staff Sergeant Ralph D. Baker of (1310 Decatur street) Pittsburgh has been awarded the distinguished service cross—the nation's second highest battle award—by Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark, fifth army commander, in Italy.

Baker was cited for extraordinary heroism when he and a comrade captured 22 Germans in action leading to the liberation of Rome.

Baker's company was attacking in the vicinity of Cateone and it was necessary to cross an open field for about 600 yards to reach a clump of houses, known to be occupied by the enemy.

"Medium tanks had preceded the infantry," the citation read, "but as they went over a slight hill in the field a terrific armor battle took place and all of our tanks were knocked out."

Germans Open Fire

"When the rifle platoon had advanced to within only a few yards of one of the houses, one of the squads was spotted by the Germans who opened fire, killing two men and wounding three."

The Yanks opened up with small arms fire and Baker volunteered to crawl out and capture them.

"With the aid of a companion he captured five of the enemy and forced them to crawl back on their stomachs," the citation continued. "By this time more of the enemy had been spotted in the next house and Baker crossed the next yard and captured six more prisoners. They, too, were forced to crawl back to the group."

"Baker and his comrade proceeded to cross the highway to a third house. When the enemy refused to surrender a hand grenade was rolled into the entrance and a few seconds later 11 badly scared Germans came out with their hands up."

The prisoners were directed to crawl back to the rear and Baker, exploring the house, found two 47 millimeter anti-tank guns.

Not Responsible

"I will not be responsible, nor pay for any debts, contracted by anyone other than myself."

Says Low-Priced Ford Is Planned

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Henry Ford, II, grandson of the founder of the Ford Motor Company, today predicted his firm would market a new low-priced car after the war.

The 26-year-old executive vice president of the company said the car would be lower priced than any car which has been offered to the public since the days of his grandfather's famous Model "A."

"This car will have everything on it that the general public expects on any automobile," Ford said, explaining that the lower price would be justified because the new car would combine economical use of space and weight.

He predicted that mass production of automobiles could be started within 90 days after the government gave permission to stop filling war orders. He pointed out that his company already is making trucks.

War Prisoners Held By Japan May Send Cablegrams Collect

WASHINGTON, D. C.—International committee of the Red Cross has advised that the Japanese authorities will permit American prisoners of war and civilian internees held in the Far East to send 10-word cable messages collect to their families in the United States, Basil O'Connor, chairman of the American Red Cross, has announced.

Since it appears that a shortage of funds is one reason why only a few cablegrams have been received so far from prisoners of war held by Japan, the American Red Cross has requested the international committee to arrange for each United States citizen held in the Far East to dispatch collect one 10-word cablegram a year.

Pending final approval of necessary appropriations by government departments to meet the expenses of the collect messages, Mr. O'Connor stated that the American Red Cross would underwrite the plan.

OLDSMOBILE OWNERS!

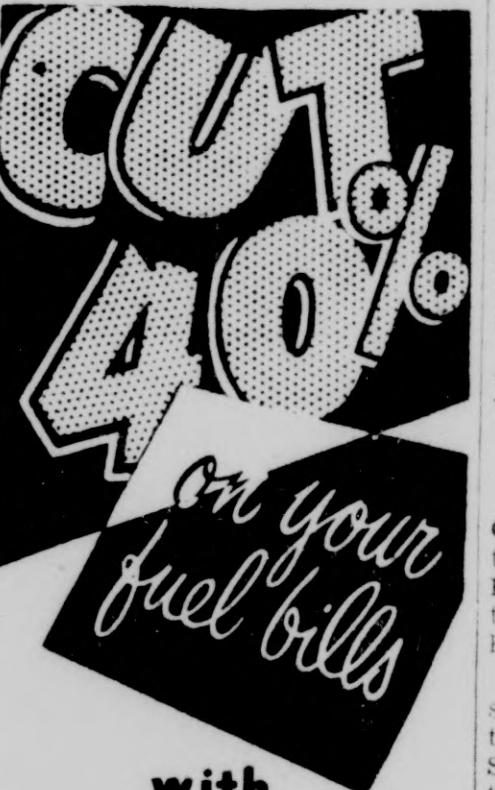

THE CRITICAL PERIOD OF THE WAR...FOR AMERICAN TRANSPORTATION...IS RIGHT AHEAD!

Protect what you drive today - TO KEEP ON DRIVING TOMORROW!

THE news from the battle front may be encouraging. But the news from the transportation front at home gets more serious every day. More gasoline alone can't save the situation! Or more tires! What transportation experts everywhere are gravely concerned about is the rate at which cars themselves are wearing out. Your car cannot be replaced today... It may be some time before all who need them can get new automobiles. Meanwhile, the surest way for you to have automobile transportation is to protect the car you drive today. Protect it with regular lubrication as recommended by Oldsmobile engineers. Protect it with factory-specification service. Protect it by having all war-worn parts skillfully adjusted or replaced. This month, before winter sets in, let our mechanics check your car over thoroughly, so you can keep on driving tomorrow.

with CELOTEX ROCKWOOL

Insulation

Is 40% of what you spend for fuel every winter, worth saving? Multiply what you could save each year by 5 years, 10 years, 20 years—amounts to real money, doesn't it? It is just sound business judgment to insulate your home—Besides your home will be comfortably warm in the winter and cool in the summer. Invest now in all year around comfort for years to come.

Warn No Early End To Japanese War In Sight

O. W. I. Cites Conditions Existing In Allies War Against Japs In Pacific

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The Office of War Information warned today that American military and naval leaders believe it will take a minimum of one and a half to two years after the defeat of Germany to completely smash the Japanese military machine.

At the same time the OWI declared that, despite America's sea supremacy in the Pacific over the badly battered enemy fleet, there is the possibility of sporadic raids by the Japanese on our west coast.

These observations highlight a lengthy OWI report based on facts and figures, estimates and opinions of authorities in the navy, war and state departments and the foreign economic administration.

May Take Years

Over-all military plans, including those concerned with war production, are based on the assumption that it may take years, rather than months, to defeat Japan, the report said. "One and a half to two years after the defeat of Germany is considered the absolute minimum."

Pacific commanders assert that Japan has lost the power of a strategic offensive beyond the range of her land-based planes. Best estimates are that Japan still has 10 to 13 battleships, 10 to 12 large carriers and other warships.

8. Japan now is operating on interior lines of supply while the allies are extending themselves.

9. Japan's food production at home, plus north China and Manchuria, is believed to be adequate to maintain her population on a minimum basis.

The OWI also warned that "no internal collapse of Japan is expected," and pointed out that the enemy has a powerful army of 4,000,000 men, his geographical position is favorable and he still has a strong navy of 10 to 13 battleships, 10 to 12 large aircraft carriers and smaller warships.

Advantages of Allies

The strategic advantages of the allies were listed by the OWI as follows:

1. The huge allied war production.
2. The United States has definite sea supremacy in the Pacific.
3. Japan's merchant shipping is being sunk at a much greater rate than her ability to replace ships.
4. Nipponese industries now are being hit by B-29 Superfortress bombers.
5. Island-skipping has neutralized about 50 major Jap bases in the Pacific.

6. Allied forces now are established so that another major move (into the Philippines) will place them in a position to virtually sever Japan's north-south sea communication lines.

7. The OWI quotes Gen. Douglas MacArthur to the effect that Japan has a powerful army but that she is "weak in leadership."

8. At sea Japan has been outfought and outnumbered. In the air, the enemy has lost five planes to our one. On the ground, the Jap soldier has been beaten in every battle since the allied offensive began.

Factors Favoring Japs

Following are some of the highlights of the factors favoring Japan:

1. According to the FEJ Japan is capable of increasing her war production.

2. Geography fights on the side of Japan; the allies are still beyond mass bombing range of Jap cities.

3. Before major invasions can be launched, the allies must solve a tremendous shipping problem.

4. The course of the war in China has been in Japan's favor.

5. Japan has 4,000,000 men under arms, 2,000,000 more available and 1,500,000 between 17 and 20 who have not yet been called up.

6. Most of Japan's industries are beyond the range of air attack, save for super-bombers.

7. The enemy has a fleet which must be considered powerful so long as it operates under the protection of land-based planes. Best estimates are that Japan still has 10 to 13 battleships, 10 to 12 large carriers and other warships.

8. Japan now is operating on interior lines of supply while the allies are extending themselves.

9. Japan's food production at home, plus north China and Manchuria, is believed to be adequate to maintain her population on a minimum basis.

The OWI also warned that "no internal collapse of Japan is expected," and pointed out that the enemy has a powerful army of 4,000,000 men, his geographical position is favorable and he still has a strong navy of 10 to 13 battleships, 10 to 12 large aircraft carriers and smaller warships.

Navy Opens New Branch Of Service

Navy Aircrewmen Are Sought To Man Guns Of Navy Aircraft And Help Navy Bombers Operate

Recruiting has been opened in a thrilling new branch of service for seventeen-year-old youths, who can qualify, by the U. S. Navy, it was announced at the New Castle Navy Recruiting station today.

These are the Aircrewmen, who fire the guns and keep the planes flying, are the men in the rear turret and cockpit of Navy aircraft. In battle, they man the guns that are helping win this war. But the aircrewmen is more than just a gunner. He has two separate and distinct jobs. He fires his guns during the short minutes of battle. Before and after that there are other vitally important things that must be done.

So the Aircrewman is first a skilled technician. He may be the radio man of the plane, the ordnance man or its mechanic. If he is a machinist's mate, he knows air-planes inside and out and how to keep them flying. He does his job well because he flies in the plane he repairs. If he is a radioman, he learns to operate radio and detection devices. Or he may be an ordnance man, specialist in guns. All three ratings are trained to be expert gunners, to defend planes during attack.

The finest training in the world is given the Aircrewmen, much of it training which will earn him a living after the war in radio, electronics, automotive or aviation businesses, the Navy states.

Further details about this branch of service may be secured at the Navy Recruiting office, Post Office Building.

Ermenigildo D'Eletto Elected New President At Dinner Meeting Tuesday Eve

President, Ermenigildo D'Eletto; Secretary and treasurer, James Cherol.

On October 31, the meeting will be with Louis DeCaprio, 1802 Hamilton street.

Exchange Club Hears Officer

Following the regular dinner meeting of the Exchange Club last night at The Castleton, the members visited the City's Bureau of Identification where Police Captain Willis G. McMullen gave an interesting talk and demonstration on finger printing.

Captain McMullen brought out that the department has finger prints on file of over 4,000 persons. He explained the method of classification and showed how it was possible to pick out from the files any person's finger print records, even though the person has used another name. By this classification procedure the F. B. I. authorities in Washington can quickly produce any man's record who has been previously finger printed for some previous offense. The Bureau was established when the present mayor, John H. Haven, was police chief and McMullen assigned to head of the department. It has been the means of tracing many "wanted persons" and also has worked the other way to prove the innocence of a person wrongfully charged.

Cecil F. Suber and Chas. H. Richards were initiated into the club last night.

Ross Frederick and Arthur Widney were guests of the club.

New Castle Preps For Sharon Battle

New Castle Hopes To Defeat Sharon Tigers Friday At Sharon Stadium

Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh has given the New Castle High football team a few stiff sessions this week, preparing for the annual battle with the Sharon High Tigers Friday night at Sharon High stadium. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

With two blotches on the 1944 card to date, the coaches are anxious to win this one Friday at Sharon. There is a possibility that Fred Wimer, the right-end may be back in the lineup. Eddie Jackson has been doing a swell job but the veteran Wimer will be needed when the locals tangle with the more experienced Sharon Tigers.

Tickets On Thursday
The boys have been drilling all week on blocking and timing and also on pass defense, as Sharon throws plenty of passes. Sharon has won from Paxatunawer, Stone township and Taylor-Alldredge and will be tough foes, as they gun for their fourth straight win in a row since the lid lifted.

Tickets for the New Castle-Sharon game will go on sale at the Sporting Goods Store Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The supply is limited so you had better get your tickets early.

Mattioli Will Act As Captain

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Clark D. Shaugnessy, Tuesday named Francis Mattioli, veteran left guard of the Pitt Panthers, to serve as acting captain of the Jungle Cats in their big inter-sectional struggle against the fighting Irish on Saturday.

The University of Pittsburgh football team started practice yesterday for the Notre Dame visit to the Steel City by running through offensive signals. Scrimmage will be held today and tomorrow.

Crucial Games In City Diamond Loop

Johnson Bronze and I. A. M., deadlocked for first place in the City Baseball league, meet at 5:30 p. m. today at Marshall field against West Pittsburgh and Shenango. Pottery also meet at 5:45 p. m. today at Lee avenue. If Shenango loses they'll not be in the play for the league championship via the Shaugnessy plan. The leading teams are J. B. I. A. M., Moose, West Pittsburgh and Shenango.

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Somewhere in Brooklyn apparently is soon going to be crowned. And lest you jump to a mistaken conclusion, let us hastily say it will not be Dodger President Branch Rickey, but one of his hired men, Outfielder Dixie Walker, who to all intents and purposes has the National league batting crown in the bag.

That Dixie is ready to enriche his batting place with the senior league batting diadem is ironic in the extreme and provides one of the most heartwarming stories in 1944 major league baseball.

Not Washed Up

Here we have a man who at one time was supposed to be washed up as a major league player because of a leg injury. In Brooklyn, he has been forced to bear patiently with the displeasure of one boss, Col. Larry MacPhail, and the lukewarmness of another, Rickey. In the twilight of his career, he finds himself with a band of half-hearted athletes who, with the exception of one or two isolated instances, can be described only as failures. Despite all the physical and psychological bars placed in his path, the impetuous Dixie has managed to climb up his best year.

All things considered, Dixie started this year with two strikes on him and the pitcher getting the signal for a certain third. According to reports, Dixie was ready to shuffle out the door marked "exit" along with the other aging players who Rickey has stricken from the payroll—Dolph Camilli, Joe Medwick and Bobo Newsom.

Walker currently is batting .363. His nearest rival, Stan Musial, is setting a pace of .348.

Veteran Stands Gaff

Had Dixie been able to bat against the Dodgers, he probably would be hitting in the neighborhood of .380. There is only one ten-game winner on the entire Brooklyn pitching staff, Curt Davis, and had Dixie been given the opportunity to go to work on that mound crew, they would have shuddered every time he walked up to the plate.

Musial has been hitting against Brooklyn. In addition, the St. Louis Cards powerhouse was ostensibly favored by his youth and the late-season heat. Yet, from the middle of July on, Walker has consistently warded off every one of Musial's advances on the league hitting leadership, although Stan on occasions has come close.

Add this to the crosses Walker has had to bear: There have been times when hits have rattled out to the Dodger outfield as if propelled by a maniac machine-gunner, yet Walker's aging legs have twinkled across the green through the very hours. Pretty good for a 34-year-old veteran, eh?

ONE OF THE lowest types of unsportsmanlike tricks is the pre-season dog stealing which happens every year along about this time. These scoundrels will not buy a pup and like other sportsmen, go through the long period of feeding and training it. They keep on watch for dogs that are already trained for hunting and a day or so before the season coax the animals into their cars. They will have a friend of the same stripe in another section of the country who will have another stolen dog and the trade is made, writes Seth L. Myers of Northwest Pennsylvania Sportsman.

Every year we receive many complaints from enraged sportsmen and asking us to help them locate their stolen dogs. This prompts us to warn against the practice. We suggest that the dog be kept in a locked barn or outbuilding, or in some way locked against thieves. It is a simple trick for some men to approach dogs and lead them off without the animals one dead one. So if you think a lot of your dog, keep a close watch on it. There will be some good ones stolen this year as usual.

Speaking of good dogs: a friend of mine who had been feeding several ringnecks during the winter, has a good pair of Irish Setters. He lost track of the birds when the snow became exceptionally deep and when about to give up searching one day, the dogs froze on point. Digging down thru a crust and three feet of snow he uncovered nine live birds and one dead one. The ringnecks were fed and released after having been hopelessly trapped under the crust. What a tribute to a dog.

Shenango-Mars Battle Thursday

Night Game Tomorrow Takes Shenango To Mars For Grid Engagement

Shenango 6 High school seeking its first win of the season will journey to Mars on Thursday night for game number three on the 1944 card. Shenango has tied one and dropped one, but hopes to start a long winning streak tomorrow night. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

Mars is riding an undated wave and have bowled over Union 20 to 12. Freedom 33 to 0, and Shaler Township 20 to 9. The Planets have a crackerjack team and expect to add Shmunev-Tanner Good.

Shmunev-Tanner Good has tallied ten touchdowns in the three games the Hudson coached machine has played and that is better than fair in any league.

Coach Eddie Nahas hopes to have Shenango at the top of the pack all the way Thursday night, but realizes that it is a tremendous task. C. Tanner is the mainstay in the East New Castle backfield and will at top form for the Mars encounter, it was announced.

Ken Overlin Wins In Denver Bout

DENVER, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Ken Overlin, 165-pound former middleweight champ from Oakland, Calif., today held a decision over R. J. Lewis, 163, Rocky mountain middleweight champ, after a slow 10-round.

Overlin, looking soft and tiring easily, displayed little of the old-time finesse and cleverness in annexing the win.

Tigers-Browns Must Win Games

Defeat For Either Team Today May Mean Pennant In American League

By PAT ROBINSON

(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—The prospect of a single post-season game to decide the American league pennant race looms brighter today as the Browns and Tigers race for the wire neck and neck.

If the race is to be decided by Sunday night when the season ends, it would appear quite likely that the first team to drop a game might lose the race.

There are still two important factors to be considered in figuring their respective chances. First, the weather. If the two teams are still dead Saturday night as they are today, and rain should cancel one team's game while the other played and won, that winning team would win the pennant by half a game, because the season ends Sunday whether the teams have finished their schedule or not.

Tigers Favored

The second very important factor is the schedule and here the Tigers appear to have the edge. They will wind up against the Senators while the Yanks are battling the Browns. The Senators have no particularly incentive to make them play over their heads to beat the Tigers but the Yanks will have a chance to land in second place and so long as that chance exists you may expect to see the Yanks playing their heads off to win.

The Yanks hung in there, three games off the pace by outslugging the White Sox, 9-5, while the Tigers were trimming the Athletics, 6-0, for Dix Trout's 27th victory and seventh shut-out, and the Browns were nosing out the Red Sox, 1-0.

Pirates Trip Braves

Cleveland had a chance to move up closer to the first division but blew one to the Senators, 8-3.

The Cubs clinched a first division berth in the National by splitting a pair with the Phillies. The Cubs won the opener, 15-9, and dropped the second, 10-1.

The Reds took a pair from the Giants, 8-5 and 6-4 in a twin bill featured by seven home runs, two of them by Frank McCormick. The Pirates coasted to a 6-2 victory over the Braves and Dodger errors gave the Cards one on a platter, 8-7.

Browns Accepting Orders For Tickets

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 27.—(INS)—With the American league pennant race still undecided, the St. Louis Browns nevertheless began today to accept mail orders for ticket reservations for the world series.

The Browns, before today's games, were tied with the Detroit Tigers for the lead.

Donald L. Barnes, president of the Browns, said 12,500 reserved seats will be available for the general public with the sale restricted to the St. Louis area in conformity with a request of the Office of Defense transportation.

Should Cooperate In Giving Jobs To Returned Soldiers

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 27.—(INS)—The nation had a plea today from selective service director Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey for cooperation in placing demobilized service men in jobs.

"The plans for re-employment have been made and the provisions even today are in operation," Gen. Hershey told the Buffalo chamber of commerce.

"In this, selective service was given a direct responsibility by congress. But so great is the task that many others must assist in order that successful accomplishment can be realized."

"The nation must not and will not fail to show gratitude—it will keep faith with its fighting men."

Pitt-Notre Dame Battle Saturday

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—(INS)—The 13th meeting in grid history of Pitt's Panthers and Notre Dame's Fighting Irish will take place in Pittsburgh Saturday with the customary big throng of witnesses on hand.

"We will definitely have 50,000 spectators," Athletic Director Jimmy Hagan of the University of Pittsburgh announced.

Coach Clark D. Shaughnessy plunged into hard scrimmage work yesterday as the Jungle Cats began the tough part of their preparation for the intercollegiate affair. Hard work will again be the order for today with a lighter session tomorrow and the usual dress rehearsal on Friday.

The visitors, with Coach Eddie McKeever at their head, will arrive in the Steel City Friday.

Swing Lobby Plans Publicity Campaign

Plans for a publicity campaign were made at the meeting of the Swing Lobby committee Tuesday evening in the Y. W. C. A. Alice Turner was chosen as director of publicity, and Bill Van Poyssan was named as news reporter.

The group decided to hold meetings every other Tuesday, beginning October 3. More students are needed to take part in floor shows at the Wednesday evening dances, the committee said. A floor show will be given this evening, but the Swing sisters, originally scheduled for this program, will not appear until Wednesday, October 4.

Last Wednesday, September 20, Ernest Young, professional magician, entertained the students with his repertoire of tricks.

Charge Three With Wrecking Of Truck

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Three men were held for court today following their arrest for allegedly driving a truck of the Otto Milk Company, and crashing it into another truck.

All three, Walter Banaszewski, 22, Ernest Molen, 22 and a Mexican who was apparently unable to speak English and was entered as "Joe Mexico," were charged with larceny.

Numbers Man Fails To Ruffle Judge

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Bruno Rodgers today knows that the judge can do.

Rodgers upset courtroom decorum when the 33-year-old convicted numbers man went before Judge John P. Egan for sentencing.

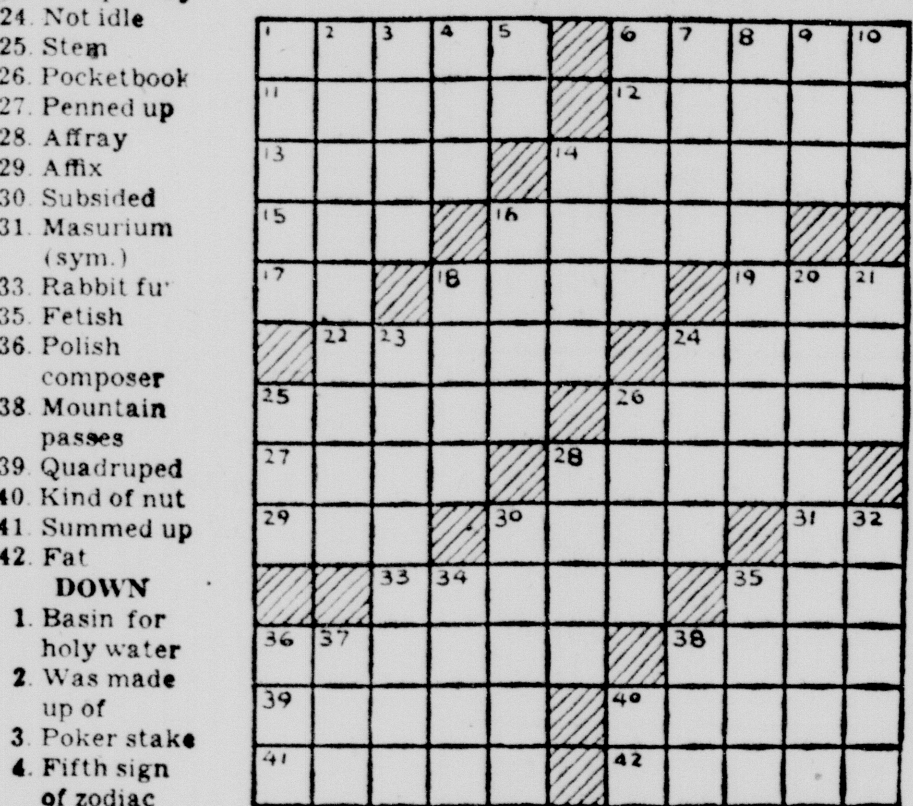

Quietly he walked toward the bench and suddenly he began to stammer out something. Nobody knew what he said until he shouted:

"I mnot a racketeer—you can't do this to me!"

Nevertheless, the judge did—he ordered Rodgers to the workhouse for one to two months.

Marine Corps Vet Tells Experiences At Lions Meeting

Cpl. John Othites Believes He
Bears Charmed Life After Four
Battles With Japs

After four grueling engagements with the Japs, Marine Cpl. John Othites, recently returned from the Pacific theater, believes that he bears a charmed life. Cpl. Othites, a former employee of the Pennsylvania Power Company, spoke to members of the New Castle Lions Club at their luncheon meeting in the Castleton, Tuesday noon, and gave an entertaining account of his adventures.

He entered the service in January 1942, right after the Jap attack at Pearl Harbor, and was among the initial troops to land on Guadalcanal. After a rest from that engagement, he landed with the Second Marines on Tarawa, and then went on to Saipan and Tinian, every one of these battles being an engagement of major importance and marked by the bitterest kind of fighting.

One thing which made him most gappy was when he found out that the Japs, which they sent up at night to illuminate the landscape and guard against Jap infiltration, were made in New Castle at the Vitale Fireworks plant.

Cpl. Othites' division holds two presidential citations, of which he is justly proud.

He stated that the Japs were no match for the Marines, and but for the fact that their religion teaches them it is a glorious thing to die for their emperor and their religion, believes that they would be a push-over.

When they were getting licked, he related, they would load up on some kind of liquor or drugs, and stage a suicidal attack against the Yanks positions, which always ended disastrously for them, but unfortunately, also claimed the lives of a lot of good American boys.

Cpl. Othites was employed by the Pennsylvania Power Company before entering the service, and was introduced by Paul G. Dingledy, assistant to the vice president, a member of the club.

Also a guest of the club at the luncheon meeting, most of which was devoted to business, was Capt. Travis A. French, local doctor, who is home on leave from Indianhead Gap, where he is now stationed.

Local Woman Given Friendship Degree

At the program governor's conference in Pittsburgh, held September 24, by The Women Of The Moose, publicity chairlady Margaret Davies Metz, of the local chapter, received the Academy of Friendship Degree. Mrs. Edith Fisher of Sharon, was appointed Associate Grand Regent of College of Regents, of Western Pennsylvania.

Orpha McConnell, recorder, Senior Regent Mary Carvella, Rose Bishop, Mary Rae, Mary Cox, co-workers from the local chapter also attended.

West Side Works On War Bond Publicity

Student Posters Encourage Efforts
To Pass Stamps And Bond
Goal This Year

"Keep 'Em Flying." "Let's Stamp Out the Jap." and other fighting phrases are going to be scattered through the West Side school as soon as the art classes finish the posters they're beginning this week. Students are putting away the braided paper baskets they have been working on and are sketching their ideas on small sheets of paper. One of the most frequent designs is a flag pole with its flag blowing out over the poster, although airplanes are just as popular. Some of the children have been drawing homes and schoolhouses, showing what the fighting is for. The most unusual is not yet labeled, but it shows a ship at sea and hands reaching up out of the water.

One poster, a big one, will show a Yankee soldier firing a gun at an airplane. The first shell will represent the amount of war stamps and bonds purchased by the school during October, the second will give the total for November, and the third, the pupils hope, will be pictured crashing into the plane to show that the goal has been reached.

Grace Darling was the daughter of William Darling, lighthouse keeper on Longstone, one of the Farnie Islands, off the coast of Scotland, and with her father, on Sept. 7, 1838, rescued the survivors of the ship Forfarshire, bound from Hull to Dundee.

Congregational Church Solicits Clothing To Ship

Church Committee Appointed To Arrange For Collection Next
Sunday

First Congregational church will support the drive for clothing to be shipped to the devastated bomb area of Great Britain. Announcement was made today by Rev. Thomas J. Jones, pastor of the church, that Mrs. Carl Turner and Mrs. Rachel Long have been appointed to solicit and arrange for such a collection.

It is anticipated that the drive will meet with a generous response as there are hundreds of people in New Castle of English, Welsh and Scottish traditions who are interested in alleviating the suffering caused by the bombing in Great Britain of a million homes.

Sunday, October 1, is the day that the First Congregational church has set aside to receive donations of clothing to be shipped to the devastated areas.
